

St.Louis

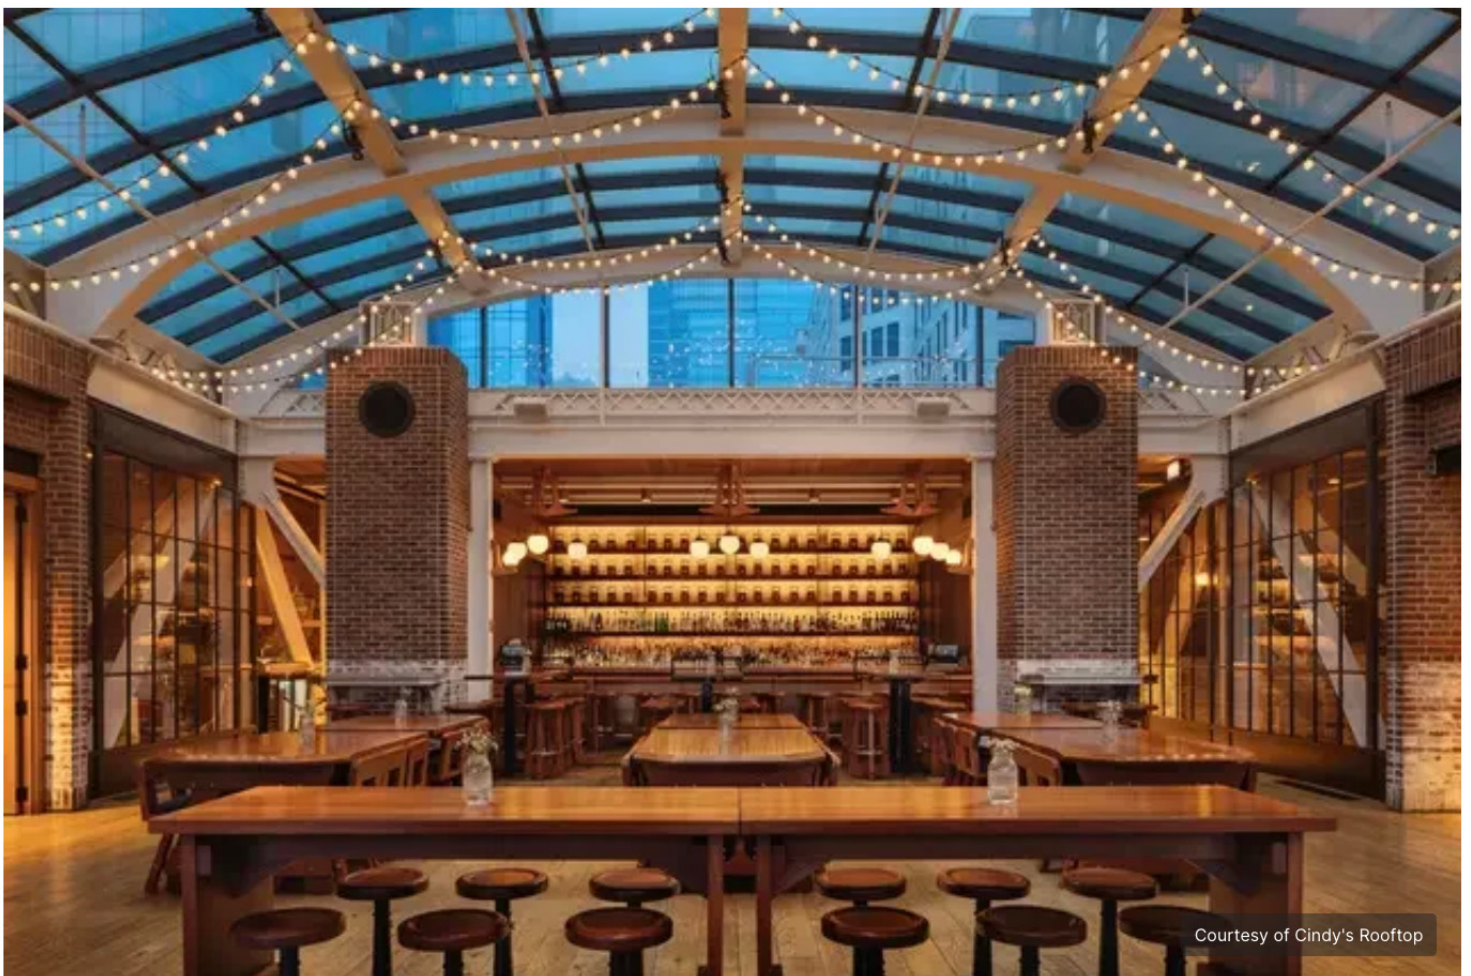

Culture / Travel /

10 of the best rooftop bars in Chicago

Grab a cocktail and take in the view.

By Jen Roberts

May 18, 2026 at 11:12 AM

Courtesy of Cindy's Rooftop

Cindy's Rooftop

Perched above Millenium Park on the 13th floor of the Chicago Athletic Association, Cindy's Rooftop has some of the best views in the city. You can enjoy drinks on the terrace year round, but all dining is indoors under the glass atrium. Depending on the time of day, Cindy's has four different menus all with local wild and seasonal produce. The Korean fried chicken sandwich on the lunch menu shouldn't be missed. For dinner, the local cheese and charcuterie board with the chef's selection of cheese and cured meat is a great way to kick off a meal. The cocktail menu is extensive and contains spirit free drinks as well. You'll want to try the Raspberry Beret that mixes Rittenhouse rye, Lustau Oloroso sherry with raspberry and hibiscus. 12 S. Michigan Avenue.